

How I got $54 of product for $3.17

Monday, 20 December 2010

Walgreens is, by far, my favorite store for bringing home the deals. Note my latest couponing conquest:

1 Listerine Whitening; 3.99 – 2.00 coupon

1 Duracell AAA 20 pack: 8.99 – 1.50 coupon

3 jars Lindsay olives, .99 ea with WG coupon

2 Olay Total Effect body wash, sale price 6.99, Buy1, Get 1, 1 Olay body lotion - coupon for free body lotion (9.99 retail)

4 Progresso soups, .99 each – 1.00 coupon

2 Toblerone chocolates, 2/3.00 - 1.00 mfg coupon – 1.00 Walgreens coupon

2 Mars candy bars - .39 WG coupon - .50 coupon

Retail price for all the above rang up to $54.82. I used $20 “jingle cash” earned from previous trips and stacked MFG coupons with WG coupons where available for a grand out-of-pocket of $7.17, plus I earned $4.00 Jingle Cash to use toward my next purchase for a final net of $3.17.

$54.82 in product for $3.17! I challenge you to beat that.
